

Alandur Metro station gets electric auto service

STAFF REPORTER

CHENNAI

Passengers travelling through Alandur Metro station will now have access to electric autos, to help with last-mile connectivity.

These three electric autos, launched by Chennai Metro and Namma Auto, will be available at this station at a flat rate of ₹10 and it will shuttle between Alandur and DLF IT Park, Porur.

Soon in other stations

These autos have been given free charging points and parking in the station. This facility will soon be available in other stations as well.

At present, there are share autos and share cars running in many of the stations in the city.
