

Metro to display train timings at bus stops

Schedule already on display at airport

STAFF REPORTER
CHENNAI

Chennai Metro will soon display train timings at bus stops near Metro stations across the city to help passengers plan their travel.

According to Chennai Metro Rail Limited officials, the plan is in the offing and is likely to be implemented in the near future.

Right now, bus stops are close only to some stations like Alandur, Kilpauk, CMBT, Government Estate and LIC. There are also plans to shift more bus stops closer to stations. The idea is that when a passenger gets off at a bus stop and has to go to another destination connected by the Metro, he can take a train.

New signage

On Saturday, Chennai Metro and the Airports Authority of India displayed train timings near the walkalator that connects the domestic and international terminals. The passenger information display system (PIDS) has been put up at a few locations to display Metro train timings. The Chennai Metro will also put up signage at the arrival halls of the international and domestic terminals, indicating where the station is and the timings of the first and the last trains.

There are plans to install more such PIDS at strategic locations in Metro stations.
