

Groove to music at Chennai metro stations

Chennai: Chennai Metro Rail Limited (CMRL) has tied up with several performers across Chennai as part of Metro Music Edit 2019 — a celebration of the vibrant music and art culture of the city. The events which began on Wednesday at Koyambedu and Central Metro stations will take place at other stations until January 1, 2020.

Unwind Center conducted a fusion music performance at Koyambedu while Drummer Murali and group performed with percussion instruments at Central Metro station, according to a release.

On Thursday, students of MOP Vaishnav College for Women, in association with Unicef, will be enacting a street play on child rights at Alandur Metro station and Thirumana-galam metro station (6pm-7pm).

Bharatanatyam recital, Tamil fusion music, parai performance are lined up in the coming days at Guindy, St Thomas Mount, Ashok Nagar, Vadapalani, Anna Nagar (East) metro stations. Entry to all events is free of cost. TNN