The renovated old Anna subway near the Chennai Metro Rail Limited's Government Estate underground metro station was opened for the public on Wednesday.

In a release, the CMRL said the renovation was done as part of multi-modal integration initiatives.

The old Anna subway, one of the biggest subways in Chennai, is located beneath Arignar Anna Statue, beautified with the surrounding metro entry structures including ACP cladding, granite flooring, wall tiling, new lighting and designer GFRC jalli works.

The subway will give commuters direct connectivity to the Government Estate Underground Metro Station Concourse Level and it will provide a convenient access to the station from Wallajah Road, Ellis Road, Blacker's Road and Anna Salai.

The subway also connects to the iconic Khadi Bhavan and Tamil Nadu Government Multi-Super Specialty Hospital at Omandurar. Adequate signages have also been installed at the entries and inside the subway to guide passengers to the metro station.
